

Homework Due October 15

Get a text editor installed on your computer if you don't have one. Notepad++, Atom, and Sublime are popular.

Finish reading chapter 3 in JavaScript for Kids starting where you left off on page 56 at DECISION MAKER. Edit the Random Insult Generator on page 59 such that the arrays have more (yet appropriate) choices. Also, make your program work so that the arrays can be of any size (or length hint hint). Submit this to me as an attachment in email as a .txt file. You can copy and paste it into email if you can't figure that out.

*Note - Remember I changed the variable names for the arrays in class to include the word List at the end of the names. Make sure when you declare or use the array variables that you use the correct names for them consistently.