

Homework #3

Due September 24

Read the STRINGS section in chapter 2 from our textbook JavaScript for Kids. I will hit the BOOLEANS section and hopefully the rest of that chapter in the next class.

Back up to page 23 and start your reading on page 23 where it says STRINGS. Continue your reading to page 30 and stop at the BOOLEANS section.

While you read, type in the examples colored in blue into your Google console. (Open your Google console by holding down Ctrl-Shift-J with a browser window open.)

A puzzle to solve and turn in via email...

Edit the two sentences contained in the variable called silly1 below with proper grammar using the .slice() and .toUpperCase() methods as best you can. Don't forget to concatenate punctuation (periods or exclamation points) missing from the sentences. Remember: Concatenate (or join) strings together by using the +. Save the corrected string into a new variable you create called silly2. It's okay if you don't get it but email me your best shot.

var silly1 = "this example is awful My teacher doesn't know her grammar";
```
